Help your child's language on the way through presence, play, and reading and conversation in daily dag life.

- Read for and with your child every day. Talk about what you see in the pictures and what occupies your Child.
- "Little storm" game. The game is a kind of memory game, which trains different every day words that have to do with clothes. Clothes. There are clothes that fit the different seasons of the year. Talk about which clothes your child is wearing, when it will go outside at different times of the year.
- Songs. Sing and play gesture songs. When you sing together, your child easier learns new words. Sing songs about the body with your child. Show and point out while you sing.
- Rubber duck. Play "hide and seek" with the rubber duck. Change to hide it at different places in the house. Talk about in which room the duck is hidden and where in the room it hides itself. For instance under the duvet. On the table, down in the drawer and so on.
- Every day activities. Remember to mention the different body parts and clothing items, when you help your child to undress or dress – or giving your child a bath. Say out loud what you are doing.

- The Book. The first 100 words. In the book there are pictures of different rooms in the house, for instance the bathroom. Talk with your child about what you can find in a bathroom, and what you do in a bathroom. Ask your child to find the duck that hides on all the pages. Teach your child words that have to do with everything that is nearby: clothes, body and bath.
- Use the laminated cards with the persons and the animals in the book to get good conversations with your child. Turn on to a page in the book. Put the cards down-side up. Change to pull a card and a number about who is on the card and what the person is doing. Ask for instance your child, "what is the cat doing on the picture?"
